Numb. 554

The Daily Gazetteer.

Saturday, April 2 1737.

91° 552.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland, and another from Flanders.

THE Count de Munich has sent Advice to the Russian Court, that the new Kan of the Tartars having assembled all his Troops, consisting of the Crim Budziac and Nogay Tartars, with a Design to attempt an Invasion of the Ukrain, and being joined near Saxagan by several Thousand Turks, under the Command of two Bashaws, passed the Dnieper or Boristhenes on the Ice the 13th of February, O. S. in two several Places near Kaliberda, a little Town upon that River, and actually entered the Ukrain; but upon the March of the Russians to cut off their Retreat, they retired with great Precipitation, having done no other considerable Mischief, except setting Fire to some Farm Houses near that River, the Inhabitants of which, were for the most Part gone off beforehand with their Effects. Some of the Prisoners taken, reported, that the whole Number of the Tartars amounted to 10,000 Men. Major General Lesley, one of the best Officers in the Czarina's Service, going to visit some Posts, had the Misfortune, in his Return, to fall into a Gang of Tartars, by whom he was surrounded on all Sides; but tho' his Guard consisted of no more than 30 Dragoons and Cossacks, he defended himself for above an Hour, and chusing to die rather than yield himself a Prisoner, he received so many Wounds, that he fainted with the Loss of Blood, and expired Sword in Hand. A Lieutenant Colonel who was detach'd with 134 Dragoons, 150 Cossacks, and a Field Piece, to the very Place where the Tartars passed the Dnieper, was attacked by their whole Army, but defended himself so well for above 5 Hours, that the Tartars were at length obliged to retire with a considerable Loss, and left several Prisoners behind them. In this Action, the Lieutenant Colonel had but one Dragoon and 3 Cossacks killed, and 24 Men wounded. The Loss sustained by the Tartars in this Expedition is not known, but 'tis like to be very great, considering their long March, their precipitant Retreat, and the intense Cold of the Weather. The said Lieutenant Colonel, was happily relieved by some Russian Regiments that were in full March, which the Tartars did not think fit to stay for. 'Tis certain, that the Tartars were not able to do much Mischief in this Invasion, because the Frontiers of the Ukrain were in a Manner deserted; but if they had not been afraid of having their Retreat cut off, their Design was to advance towards the Places of the Russian Magazines, in order to destroy them.

The Advices from Petersburg tell us, that on the 7th ult. the Czarina nominated her Plenipotentiaries to meet the Turks at the ensuing Congress at Siroka in Moldavia, and that they are the Baron de Schaffiroff, the Great Huntsman Wolinski, and M. Nepiusef, a Privy Counsellor; but 'tis believed they will not set out before 'tis known that those of the Grand Signior are arrived there, and that he has accepted of the Preliminaries proposed on the Part of the Court of Vienna. Mean time such Preparations are continued by the Russians for the ensuing Campaign, that it looks as if their Court thought Sword in Hand the most powerful Mediator for obtaining an advantagious Peace. We are assured, that the Count de Munich's Army will consist of 90,000 Men Regular Troops, and 15,000 Cossacks, and that under the Velt Marshal de Lascy of 40,000 Men Regular Troops, and the rest of the Cossacks and Calmucks that are to serve this Year under him.

The Intelligence we have relating to Kouli Kan, is so contradictory, that we know not what to depend on. The Letters from Petersburg say, that he is still closely pursued by the Sophy of Persia, who was actually on the March with a considerable Army towards the Frontiers of Turky to over-take him; and that the Council of Persia has resolved to give an Order, that all the Registers of the Kingdom which mention his Election, be torn in Pieces, and burnt by the proper Officer, and that he and all his Adherents may be put to Death without any Ceremony.

On the other Hand, the Letters from Smyrna, by way of Venice, contradict the Reports of Kouli Kan's Defeat by the Usbecks or Tartars of Bukaria, and his Escape to the Frontiers of Turky; as also the Report of the sudden Appearance of a Prince of the ancient Sophies of Persia, at the Head of an Army of 40,000 Men. According to these Letters, Kouli Kan is so far from having fled towards Turky, that he has not been so much as under a Necessity of doing it, the Usbecks having not form'd any Enterprize against him. It seems, indeed, that there is a Party which refuses to own him for King of Persia; but 'tis the very Party that has been in Being several Years, yet too weak to be able to excite any new Revolution. The Head of these Malecontents is not a Prince of Persia; for Kouli Kan, according to the Maxims of the Oriental State Policy, has put most of the Family of the Sophies to Death, except the King, whom he dethroned, and his Son Abas, both of whom he keeps confin'd in the Castle of Ormers. The Head of the Party here understood, is one Miry-Islam, Brother by the Mother's Side, to the famous Miri Mamouth, the chief Usurper of the Persian Throne. For the rest, Kouli Kan, say these Letters, is quiet at his Capital City of Ispahan, intent how to establish himself on the Throne, and to win the Affections of the People. These Letters add, that he has not thought it necessary to go and fight the said Miry-Islam in Person; but has sent a great Body of Persian Troops against the Rebels, which is incamp'd in the Neighbourhood of Casbin, and has given the Command of it to one of his best Generals. The Malecontents are said to be in Possession of the Province of Candahar, which is very strong, by reason of the Marshes and Rocks with which 'tis incompass'd. Tho' the Great Mogul seems to be in the Interest of Kouli Kan, yet he is suspected of fomenting this Rebellion, in order to make an Advantage of it some time or other for recovering Candahar, which has been always a Province in Dispute between the Sophies of Persia and the Great Moguls.

The Letters from Constantinople, by Way of Vienna say, that the British Ambassador is set out for the Grand Vizier's Camp; but as they make no mention of any Inclination in the Porte, to desist from their Demand of the Restitution of Asoph, a War is still look'd upon as unavoidable, unless the Express sent from Vienna to Constantinople, with the ultimate Terms for commencing the Negotiations for a Peace, returns with a favourable Answer. Mean time they write from Vienna, that the Imperial Army is to consist of 60 Battalions, and 160 Squadrons, besides 6000 Saxons, and 2000 Men of the Troops of Wolfembuttle: And the Ammunition and Provisions for the said Army are all ready, together with 70 battering Pieces, and 40 Mortars, for a Siege.

They add from Constantinople, that the Count de Bonneval proposed in a Divan, that the Kings of France and Sweden, might be chose the sole Mediators of the Differences betwixt the Porte and Russia, which tho' agreed to by most of the chief Members, was rejected by the Majority of the said Council.

The News in several of the foreign Gazettes, that the Court of Russia wanted to borrow a Sum of Money of the Amsterdammers, is contradicted. On the contrary, the Persons concerned in Holland have published, that they have been reimbursed by that Court, at several Payments, the 400,000 Rixdollars advanced to the late King Charles XII. of Sweden, at the Beginning of this Century, upon the Customs of Riga, with Interest to the utmost Penny, pursuant to the late Treaty of Friendship betwixt the present King of Sweden and the Czarina; and the original Bonds entered into by Sweden, on Account of the Monies so borrowed of the Dutch, together with the Receipts for the several Payments made to them by the Czarina for discharging the Capital, which, with the Interest, amounted to 842,000 Rixdollars, are sent from Petersburg to Stockholm.

They write from Groningen, that the Wife of Martin Jans died lately at Muntendam, a Place in the Jurisdiction of that City, in the 110th Year of her Age, after an Illness of about 4 Days. Her surviving Husband is no less than 99. They were both born at Muntendam, and baptized at Zuibrock, where they were also married, viz. the Woman at 30 Years of Age, and the Man at 20; so that they had been married about 80 Years. The Man still enjoys a good Share of Health and Understanding; but is almost overcome with Grief for the Loss of his Wife, who, tho' so much older, was more lively, and took the chief Care both of his Person and Houshold Affairs.

LONDON.

Last Saturday Richard Cauller was executed at Tyburn near York, for burning Mr. Bell's House at Hewby. He denied his being employed by any Person, or receiving any Reward for committing that base Fact; but that he did it in Revenge for Mr. Bell's threatning him with the House of Correction, as a Vagrant. Motto to LAYER's Scheme.

Adverti ſement concerning this Book.

This Maſterpiece of religious Policy was publiſhed, many Years ſince, in Latin, French, and Dutch: Mr. John Schipper, a Bookſeller at Amſterdam, bought one of them at Antwerp, among other Books, and afterwards reprinted it. The Jeſuits, being informed that he had purchaſed this Book, demanded it back from him; but he had then ſent it to Holland. One of the Society, who lived at Amſterdam, hearing it ſaid, ſoon after, to a Catholick Bookſeller, by Name Van Eyke, that Schipper was printing a Book which concerned the Jeſuits; replied, that if it was only The Rules of the Society, he ſhould not be under any Concern; but deſired he would inform himſelf what it was. Being told by the Bookſeller, that it was The Secret Inſtructions of the Society, the good Father, ſhrugging up his Shoulders, and knitting his Brow, ſaid, that he ſaw no other Remedy but denying that this Piece came from the Society. The Reverend Fathers however thought it more adviſeable to purchaſe the whole Edition, which they ſoon after did, ſome few Copies excepted; from one of theſe it was afterwards reprinted, with this Account prefixed; which is there ſaid to be taken from two Roman Catholicks, Men of Credit.
